

The Essential Piece Award was created to recognize and celebrate the efforts of individuals who contribute to the successes of West Valley City.

On October 25, 2008, West Valley City was visited by Senator Hilary Rodham Clinton. Senator Clinton was here to speak at the Utah Democratic Party rally/fundraiser held at the Utah Cultural Celebration Center. In order to prepare for this important visit, many City employees spent long hours preparing one of the City's jewels so that it made the best possible impression to many distinguished attendees. This event also brought national and international attention to the UCCC. With out the hard work and dedication of these employees, this event would not have been possible. For this reason, the following employees are recognized as "Essential Pieces" to the successes of West Valley City.
